DESCRIPTION OF COVERAGES

CONTRACTUAL LIABILITY REIMBURSEMENT INDEMNITY

Contractual Liability Reimbursement Indemnity is payable under this Policy for Your liability assumed under Contract for Covered Expenses incurred by Your Newborn for a wide range of medical services. The items which may be indemnified are shown in this section under covered expenses. The indemnity will not begin until the agreed Self-Insured Retention Amount has been exhausted. Once indemnity begins, this Policy will indemnify Covered Expenses in excess of the Self-Insured Retention Amount, up to the Limit of Liability. Covered Expenses must be Medically Necessary and services incurred while covered under the Policy and directly related to the Newborn.

We reserve the right to obtain a second opinion for any medical service before indemnity is payable under this Policy. A required second opinion will not be subject to the Self-Insured Retention Amount or reduce the Limit of Liability. Any applicable costs will be paid by the Company.

This Policy provides limited Contractual Liability Reimbursement Indemnity and should not be considered basic hospital or basic major medical health insurance coverage. Indemnity hereon is only payable in excess of the Policy agreed Self-Insured Retention Amount.

Covered Expenses include:

1. Hospital and nursery charges relative to the Newborn only;
2. High dependency unit and neonatal intensive care unit;
3. Routine well baby care including required vaccinations and circumcision;
4. Medically Necessary consultation services by a Physician;
5. Nursing Care by a licensed resident or daily nurse who is not an Immediate Family Member. In most cases, the services of a private duty nurse are not Medically Necessary. In any case when such services are not deemed Medically Necessary, charges made by a private duty nurse will not be considered Covered Expenses. No benefits will be paid for such private duty nursing.
6. Anesthesia services related to surgical, or other similar services;
7. Inpatient Hospital services;
8. Outpatient services;
9. Prescription Drugs, which are medically necessary and prescribed by a Physician;
10. Home health care services;
11. Diagnostic services and supplies; and
12. Medically Necessary Ambulance Services to a medical facility for emergency care for a Newborn. The following limitations apply to Ambulance Services:
 - a. Non-emergency ambulance transport is not covered. No indemnity is provided for the cost of transport in vehicles such as a chair ambulance, car or taxi,
 - b. Emergency transportation to the nearest suitable medical facility,
 - c. No reimbursement is provided for transportation to or from medical appointments,
 - d. Reimbursement is provided for air ambulance transport only when it is Medically Necessary for the Newborn to be transported by air rather than ground ambulance. It is not considered Medically Necessary to transport the Newborn by air solely for the benefit of a higher level neo-natal intensive care unit.

DATE A COVERED EXPENSE IS INCURRED:

Unless otherwise stated in this Policy, the date that an indemnified medical expense is incurred is the date that the covered medical treatment, service or supply is rendered to the Insured Intended Parent(s)' Newborn.

COST MANAGEMENT SERVICES:

We may, at Our option, utilize the services of an Administrator in those situations where such services would be in the best interests of Us and where We believe the services would be beneficial to the Newborn. The Insured Intended Parent(s) are required to fully cooperate with Our appointed Administrator.

COORDINATION AND PRE-CERTIFICATION REQUIREMENT:

This Policy requires Pre-Certification of Medically Necessary Newborn related medical services. It is a conditional warranty for coverage hereon that all Medically Necessary medical services are coordinated and pre-certified by Our appointed Administrator. In most cases, the Administrator will work with Your Providers to discuss proposed services before Your Newborn receives the care. To begin this process, You must request approval from the Administrator before Your Newborn receives covered services. This written approval is called Pre-Certification. Pre-Certification is not a guarantee of indemnity. Indemnity is subject to the terms and conditions of this Policy. If You do not obtain the required Pre-Certification of Medically Necessary Newborn medical services from the Administrator, a denial in coverage will be applied to the cost of Medically Necessary covered services. This plan requires Pre-Certification not less than seven (7) days in advance, of all medical treatment except Medically Necessary urgent or emergency treatment. Pre-certification is not required in the event of an emergency treatment situation; however, the Insured Intended Parent(s) must report the incident to the Administrator within seventy-two (72) hours or within a reasonable timeframe.
